FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

Washington, July 1.

THE COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS.

A large number of Congressmen arrived here to-day, and there seems now no doubt that a quorum will be present on the first day of session. A large majority of the members seem to believe that the coming session will be longer than three weeks long, and Mr. Banks will press the Universal Suffrage Bills, and hopes to get a final vote upon them before the session closes. Whether he will succeed in this, the last session assures it now. A considerable number are urgent for action on that question. It is probable that a caucus will be held by the Republicans to determine their course, and there is talk of calling it for to-morrow evening. Senator Wade will be present.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Colonel Taylor, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, is preparing a despatch to the Indians, to be sent to the chiefs of the prairie Indian tribes, informing them that the Government is ready, on its part, to act liberally to them, and requesting them to send delegates to Washington to confer with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, with a view to making a treaty for a new reservation.

GRAND JURORS DISCHARGED.

Washington, July 1.—The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia, having completed the business before them, were discharged to-day.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

At the office of the Treasury Department, within the last few days, rumors have been current that the Secretary intended to resign, and that he was likely to be succeeded by Governor Cox, of Ohio. It is understood that the Secretary will return to Washington on the 15th inst., and will remain in office until the 1st of August, when he will resign, and will be succeeded by Governor Cox, of Ohio.

THE SENATE TRIAL.

Cross-Examination of Watchman Cunningham—Testimony of Dr. McMillian, Surgeon of the Vessel on which Surratt Escaped—Effort of Counsel to Impeach Testimony on the Prisoner.

[Special Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

Washington, July 1.

The Criminal Court room was crowded as ever to-day. Judge Fuller presided, but appeared much fatigued, and evidently suffering from severe nervous headache.

The greater part of the day was taken up in the continued cross-examination of Watchman Cunningham, who was Surratt's guard on the steamer. The defence pushed him all day, and finally succeeded in getting him to admit that he had taken bail money, &c., first on the night of the 14th, and afterwards on the night of the 15th of April, at the bookstall in the office of the Secretary of State. He was also compelled to admit that he had been arrested by the police, and that he had been released on bail. The object of this cross-examination was to show that the witness was under the influence of fear, and that his testimony was given under the influence of fear, and that his testimony was given under the influence of fear, and that his testimony was given
